HEADTEACHER UPDATE

Our PTA met on Tuesday night to vote on use of PTA funds and focus projects going forwards. It was agreed to fund the £2500 shortfall for the replenishment of books for our library and to contribute £800 towards our summer science fortnight (15th May-26th May). Thank you to all who attended and have contributed to the PTA and fundraising so far this year. It makes such a difference to the school and this allocated money will soon be benefitting our children.

Having mentioned our 'Science Fortnight,' should you have a scientific background or profession and be able to contribute leading a workshop or activity/experiment with our pupils, we would love to hear from you. Please email the school (see below) with Science Fortnight in the subject line with any suitable contributions you could offer.

We hope you found your parents' evening useful and you have been able to feed back the focus areas discussed to your child. It was good to receive such positive feedback about how well the vast majority of you felt your child was developing.

On Thursday it was the 20th anniversary of World Book Day and the children took part in a range of activities to put books and reading on the map. Speed reading to a partner before moving on to another and deciding which book you liked best, don't judge a book by its cover (gift wrapped covers) read to decide if you would like to continue and favourite book reviews and related artwork all featured.

Finally, we hope you have your dancing shoes ready for tonight's PTA disco. Just like during the normal school day, when dropping off and collecting, please do not drive to the school unless you have a permit. Please park away from the school and walk to avoid congestion and keep our children safe. Thank you to Mrs Mills, Ms Parkinson and the PTA members who have volunteered to help at the disco. As stated previously, children will only be released to the named adult collecting them. We hope you all have a great time and restful weekend.

Best wishes Paul Miller
